HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha, so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 26.

The Money Panic.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The gold room was crowded early this morning. At 10 the Board came to order, when the following was received from the President of the Gold Exchange Bank: "This bank will not receive any clearing statement from dealers to-day. The statements received yesterday are nearly all affected by failures, and it is impossible to learn the balances. Dealers must be prepared to take up the tickets of those in default which they have sent in, as that is the only mode of adjusting the movement. The bank will use every exertion to bring about prompt settlement."

The board then passed resolutions adjourning till Monday and recognizing no transactions being made to-day. They appointed a committee to wait on the assistant treasurer and request him to postpone the sale of $4,000,000 of gold till Monday. The board then adjourned.

There have been no transactions in gold to-day. The assistant treasurer declined to accede to the request of the gold committee, but stated that no awards for gold will be made until bids are telegraphed to Secretary Boutwell. The purchase of the bonds will not exceed the sale of gold. Bank officials are straightening out the accounts between the gold brokers and themselves. The clearings yesterday at the gold exchange aggregated $500,000,000. Wm. Heath & Co., have not failed but are pursuing business as usual. It is stated that Smith, Gould, Martin & Co. will settle their accounts and have a balance of several millions. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, gold was almost impossible to get at any price. It is quoted at seven per cent. and one and a half is freely paid for turning stock. The stock market is dull. The houses reported yesterday as having suspended are still in the same condition. It is rumored that they will not be able to go on. The Tenth National Bank is in trouble. There has been a run on it all the morning. It is reported it will have to suspend unless other banks assist it. Day closed quietly on Wall and Broad streets. Everything now wears a calmer aspect. The run on the Tenth National Bank ended at 3:15 P. M., the bank having met all demands. It is presumed the bank on Monday will cease to decline acceptances of its checks. The ability of the bank to satisfy all claims has materially checked the growing panic, and it is recovering confidence in the several departments of business. From the disclosure of the closely kept secrets of the Gold Exchange Bank, the Tenth National had in deposits this forenoon, $1,100,000 and paid out during the day $1,000,000. Pulleder, the bank examiner, inspected the condition of the bank to-day, and pronounced it satisfactory.

Many banks were this evening throwing out checks on the gold exchange bank. Some banks were served injunctions and legal notifications against paying checks paid into the gold exchange bank yesterday. These checks, however, were certified and came regularly through the clearing house this morning and of course had to be recognized.

The Secretary of the Treasury instructed Gen. Butterfield to-day, by telegraph, to limit the purchase of gold to-day to two million unless the bids be over thirty-four, and to reject all bids under thirty-two. The amount sold was $2,000,000 at 32½@34½.

Cable dispatches report large amounts of gold withdrawn from the banks of England and France for shipment to New York.

The general opinion in the street is that beyond those of Albert Speyer and W. H. Belden the failures will be confined to small firms whose engagements are not large enough to cause serious trouble.

The Episcopal Convention of New York will meet next Wednesday. It is understood the subject of the recent introduction of several ritualistic features at St. Albans will be brought before the convention on complaint of commissioners from the high churchmen themselves.

Bonner denies that Dexter is to trot for the benefit of the Avondale sufferers or any others.

Solomon Mahler, gold broker, committed suicide this morning.

Of four or five men who attempted to ravish a woman at Green Point this morning the police shot and wounded two.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Rear Admiral Huff is ordered on duty as a member of the Board of Examiners. Commodore John L. Warden is to be Superintendent of the Naval Academy. F. E. Dallile presented his credentials to-day as Minister from Denmark. He has been for some time Charge de Affairs from that kingdom.

St. Louis Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—The Mississippi valley telegraph lines were sold to the Pacific and Atlantic instead of the Atlantic and Pacific, as telegraphed from here.

Mrs. Hoffman has recovered $15,000 damages from the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad, for injuries received three years since.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—A farmer named Cox and his wife were found murdered, the bodies shockingly mangled with an ax, in his own house, near Kingsville, Missouri. No circumstances attending the deed are known, and no clue to the perpetrators.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—John T. Sayers was arrested at Wellsville, Mo., and brought here charged with complicity in passing large sums of counterfeit greenbacks, and drawing money on raised checks upon banks in Austin, Texas. Sixteen thousand dollars was realized thus. Thirty thousand dollars in counterfeit greenbacks and a quantity of raised drafts were found in Sayers' possession.

George W. Frost, the purchasing agent of the Union Pacific Railroad, has sued the contractors for forty thousand dollars, claimed for services during the past three years.

Coming West.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Judge Ferris, of New York, Hon. Geo. H. Halsey, Hon. John Hill, of New Jersey, Hon. A. F. Stevens and Dr. Argos, of New Hampshire, Hon. John Harper, of Missouri, Judge Longbridge, of Iowa and Colonel Ordway, Sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives, will leave here on Wednesday next for California, with ladies. It is entirely a pleasant trip.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 25.—H. Waller, alias Oscar Bush, was arrested yesterday for selling counterfeit money. The examination disclosed the connection of the prisoner with extensive gangs operating along the line of the Erie Railroad. He was committed in default of bail.

Monument to McPherson.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—Generals Sheridan, Hazen, Buckland, Leite and Hickenloper, with a brother of General McPherson, were engaged yesterday and to-day in examining the plans for the McPherson monument. The design of Jones of this city was adopted. It is of Scottish and Quincy granite and will cost $20,000, three-fourths of which sum is now in the treasury.

Illinois State Fair.

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 25.—The rush of exhibitors to the State Fair is unprecedented. In every department the Fair promises to be the finest ever held in the Northwest.

Municipal Election at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 25.—The municipal election to-day passed off quietly. The returns, which are incomplete, show a majority for Morris (Conservative), of about 2,500. Conservative aldermen and councilmen are also elected by a decided majority.

The Bible not Wanted at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26.—Five hundred people responded to the call for a meeting of those favoring the expulsion of the bible from the common schools. The meeting was disorderly and apparently the parties were equally divided. Resolutions favoring expulsion were presented but the chairman could not decide whether they passed or were rejected. It is almost certain that the board of education at the meeting to morrow night will prohibit the reading of the bible in the schools.

Rain at Philadelphia.

Thief Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 26.—George Lightfoot, a negro, was killed by J. D. Barker while stealing corn on the latter's farm on Thursday night, nine miles from this city.

More about Sir John Franklin.

NORWICH, Sept. 26.—The schooner Cornelia has arrived from Cumberland Inlet, bringing three men belonging to Dr. Hall's expedition in search of Sir John Franklin. Dr. Hall will arrive very shortly. He has a number of articles belonging to Sir John Franklin and was successful in finding the skeletons of many of his men, and the remains of several of their boats. At King William's Land Dr. Hall found a native who claims to know all about the party and says the ship was stove and the crew went there. When their provisions were exhausted they died of starvation. Dr. Hall will return next summer and still further prosecute his search.

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 27.—Dr. F. C. Hall with Ebersburg and Loo Kodlita, two Esquimaux and three daughters, arrived yesterday on the ship Ansel Gibbs.

Bank Defalcation.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 26.—A defalcation is discovered in the National Exchange Bank of this city. The cashier has been arrested and held to bail in the amount of $50,000 immediately after the discovery. About $30,000 is the defalcation, but the surplus will probably cover all deficiency.

A Story of the War.

"Russell" writes to the Boston Traveller:

Last February there was a soldier named B[illegible]ton in Boston, claiming to be from New Jersey, who applied to several places for aid to go to Trenton, where he said he had a sister. He was evidently a weak-minded, and was called an idiot by some to whom he applied. He afterwards begged in Providence and New Haven. But he generally met with rebuffs, and was considered by many as an imposter. His story about his sister was always very vague and disjointed. At last a young woman residing on the highway between New Haven and Bridgeport, and at whose house he stopped for water, invited him in, and although she felt that he was weak mentally, yet treated him with great kindness. She had lost a brother in the war, and raved [illegible] all who had been there. Her parents objected to having him, but she finally persuaded them to set him to work on the farm, where he could needs [illegible] the superintendence of her father, do considerable work. He stayed there for more than a year. All this time the young lady was trying to get a letter to his sister, but could get no reply.

It so happened, according to our correspondent, from whom we obtained most of the [illegible] given, that she had an intimate friend and school-mate living in Schenectady, N. Y., with whom she had roomed at a young ladies' school in New Haven. In the absence of anything to write about, she wrote to this friend in Schenectady about the soldier, telling his name and quoting some remarks which he often made. This letter was soon forgotten by the receiver, and went into the paper rags and so on to the paper mill. At the mill some fun-loving girls picked out a dozen or more letters and took them home to read in the evening. This letter was one of the [illegible] ones, and was read by a girl who had worked at house-keeping in a family of the same name as the soldier mentioned in the letter, and who had lost a son in the army. It was quite an impression upon her, and she finally sent the letter to the family.

When the Boston family received the letter they were inclined to take no notice of it, and had thrown it in the waste basket, when a [illegible] with the expression "who knows," advised them to send to the young lady who wrote the letter. The young lady took this letter of inquiry, and read it to Benton, when he [illegible] crying, and exclaiming, "They are my lost folks, my lost folks." It afterwards proved that his sister in New Jersey was a misconception he had gotten into his addled brain, and that he had been hit on the head by a splinter in the battle of the Wilderness, which so affected his brain that after his exit from the hospital he was partially [illegible]. This letter was from his father, who was a wealthy man, and who has since surrounded him with all the comforts which he can enjoy, and given to his benefactress in Connecticut a check for three thousand dollars. If our informant, who knows the parties, would only let us add that B[illegible] top recovered his reason and married the girl, it would be a first class story.

AN EXTRAORDINARY ANECDOTE ABOUT LOUIS NAPOLEON.—The Salut Public, of Lyons, has just published a most extraordinary anecdote, for the truth of which it vouches with great determination. During the sojourn of Louis Napoleon in America he became intimate with a family whose real name the Salut Public disguises under the pseudonym of Edwards, derived from the Christian name of its head. The friendship the Edwards felt for the Prince was unvarying, and their feelings toward them when he became Emperor were as constant as they had been when he was an exile.

In 1859 Mr. Edwards came to France to felicitate his friend on his Italian victories, and was received by the Emperor with great warmth. The interview was long and private. Mr. Edwards, however, made no secret of what passed between them, and repeated to several of his friends the following words of the Emperor. The Prince Imperial had just recovered from a serious illness, and his Majesty still under the impression of his past fears, said to his old friend—"If I had the misfortune to lose my son, and all hope for an heir in a direct line were denied me, I should have put into execution an extraordinary project. * * I should have given to France the privileges, the liberties, the institutions of a Republic. I should have wished to be looked upon as the first citizen of my country, after having given back to it those liberties which political necessity has obliged me to take away for a time; in a word, I should have rendered impossible after my death any other form of Government than that of a Republic—the only one which, wisely understood, and applied with energy, can suit France. But I must give up this dream; a father of a family must try and conciliate two elements which now seem utterly inalienable—the Empire and liberty. My heirs shall reign, and France shall only lose a name—the name of Republic. She will soon have, I hope, all the liberal institutions that I have so much admired in the New World." * * Such words as these, at such a time, certainly took Mr. Edwards by surprise and created much astonishment and incredulity in the minds of those to whom he communicated them.

"THAT DARLING FRIDAY!"—Brilliant men are said to be fond of marrying unintellectual wives. Madame de Talleyrand was no exception to the rule. She was very pretty, but by no means clever. A certain Sir Robinson, who had traveled in the East, being invited to dine at the minister's house, Talleyrand said to his wife, "I will leave a book for you, my dear, on my study-table; please read it, and then you will be able to talk to Sir George when he comes to dine." Talleyrand forgot to leave out the intended book, but his wife, anxious to comply with his instructions, hunted about the study, and finding "The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," at once jumped to the conclusion that the author was their expected guest (the French usually drop the word "Crusoe," and speak of "Robinson.") She read the book diligently, and astonished Sir George, on his entering the drawing-room, by instantly questioning him concerning "that darling Friday."

A "Lawyer's" Plea.

Old John Willett in Barnaby Rudge never manifested a more decided propensity to "tackle" his companions in an argument than the Oregon City paper exhibits to "tackle" the "Chinese question." That paper in its last issue favors its readers with three elaborate editorials on the Chinaman; and the same gentleman from Asia also monopolizes the minor articles and the items used for filling at the foot of the columns. The editor no doubt supposes that he has left little to be said on the subject,—which would be true if he had filled his space with correct statements. But he has made progress, for we now find him coming to a point to which we have long been trying in vain to bring him and his brethren of the press who are making such a pother about the Chinese. To our inquiry whether the Chinese do not already possess the same privileges, immunities and exemptions in respect to travel and residence which may be enjoyed by the citizens and subjects of the most favored nations, and if they have not possessed them for many years?" the Enterprise responds as follows:

> Answering the last part of the question first, we say No. And for proof that they have not possessed these rights for many years, we refer to the following facts:
> 1st. That a special tax has been imposed on the Chinese residing on this coast which was not imposed on the citizens of the most favored nations.
> 2d. If the Chinese had previously enjoyed such rights, it would have been nonsense to recognize such rights specifically in the Republican amendments to the Chinese treaty.

The Oregon City editor advertises that he is a lawyer, and that he devotes his time chiefly to that profession, giving only his leisure hours to the paper. Now what is an intelligent community to think of a lawyer who commits such blunders as are manifest in the above reply? To prove that Chinese have not long possessed the same privileges in respect to travel and residence in this country which are enjoyed by citizens of the most favored nations, we are told that "a special tax has been imposed on Chinese residing on this coast," from which citizens of other countries are exempt. But did the Oregon City editor, being a lawyer, ever hear that these taxes have been pronounced unlawful? An act imposing such a tax was passed in California in 1862, but the Chinese refused to pay it, took the matter to the Supreme Court of the State, and got a decision pronouncing the act void and the attempt to collect the tax unconstitutional. Lin Sing vs. Washburn, 20 Cal. This decision was rendered in 1863, years before the pending treaty with China, which is giving the Enterprise so much trouble, was thought of. The Supreme Court of California at that time was Democratic, and it held that Chinese within the State was on precisely the same footing with other foreigners. So conclusively was the question settled in California by this decision that no further attempt has been made there to enact legislation imposing a special tax on this class of people. At the last session of the Oregon Legislature an attempt was made to enact such a law, but the Governor killed it with his veto as he was bound to do out of regard for the Constitution, laws and treaties of the country. Had the act passed it would have met the same fate as the California act, for no judicial tribunal of any character would hesitate to pronounce such an act void. This whole question has been considered at length by the Supreme Court of the United States, and the doctrine is there laid down with unmistakable clearness that no State has power under the Constitution to impose a special tax on foreigners coming into or residing in this country. No principle of constitutional law is better established than this, and the American lawyer who does not know it shows himself inexcusably ignorant of his country's jurisprudence.

The first fact adduced by the Enterprise is therefore no fact at all. Where attempts have been made to collect this special tax the Courts have prevented it. Thus we see that the Chinese have long actually possessed the same privileges in this country that have been enjoyed by the subjects of the most favored nations. These privileges were accorded to them by the Democratic party, and the Republicans have added nothing to them.

But the Enterprise says that if the Chinese had previously possessed such rights it would have been nonsense to recognize them in the new treaty. This may be a matter of opinion, but it cannot for a moment affect the unalterable fact that they did previously enjoy these privileges. The fact is, as stated by the New York World, that much of the new treaty is useless matter. It was probably thought by those who negotiated it, that to specify these things more distinctly would help to secure for the United States new privileges in China. The treaty, however, does not change the status of the Chinese here in any particular, and we renew to the Enterprise and its coadjutors of the press the challenge we have repeatedly given them, to show what advantage the Chinese possess in this country which was not awarded them years ago by the Democratic party.

"A Remedy Never Thought of Before."

The writer of those inimitable essays known as "Sunday Leaders" startles the community by proposing an "entirely new" method of reforming vice and propagating virtue. We all know that vice often exhibits itself unblushingly in our midst. The "Sunday Leader" man speaks of this sad fact with due regret; and then in the plenitude of his original wisdom, and with the air of one who has lighted upon a great discovery, proceeds to tell how so bad a state of things may be effectually cured. "We will suggest a remedy," says our sophomorical reformer, "that nobody has ever thought of trying." Right glad were we when we hit upon this declaration; for nothing is so much needed in the world as some effective method of moral reform. We read on eagerly, in the hope of reaching at every word the noble precept that was to bring about the moral regeneration of mankind. We stopped not to consider such profound apothegms as, "Virtue and vice have always existed together," and, "In a healthy community virtue should be largely in the ascendant," for though these doubtless be great truths which nobody ever thought of before, we wanted to come at once at the great sovereign remedy. At last we reached it, and here it is:

> In the first place then if the women of America, in addition to their resolution printed in the public journals from time to time, would apply a practical test, and refuse their countenance to those persons who gambled, and were drunkards, many would be turned from the road to ruin. It cannot be denied that young men who are called 'fast' are more admired because of that fact, by thoughtless women. Nine tenths of these would forsake their bad habits the moment they saw that it produced a frown upon the brow of any woman they had regard for.

We read this over carefully more than once, and at last it occurred to us that we had heard something like it before; that, in point of fact, this great remedy "which nobody ever thought of trying," was not new after all. Not to put too fine a point upon it, this is the "remedy" which every shallow declaimer, every impracticable "reformer," has been proposing for at least three generations. It is ineffective, because it ignores the fundamental principles of human nature and requires of women that which the constitution of society will prevent them from accomplishing. Experience shows that women generally will not apply this so-called "practical test" any more than men will abstain from drink and other vices into which they are prone to fall; therefore the test is not "practicable." Such propositions are for the most part empty twaddle, and can be applied to no general principle of reform. The true reformer takes human nature as he finds it; he considers the state and composition of society, and does not attempt such chimerical things as that of changing the nature of men and women and altering at once the whole social structure. If any way can be devised to cure women of being "thoughtless," and any way can be discovered to prevent men from admiring thoughtless women, then the "remedy which nobody ever thought of trying" may begin to have a practical application.

It would be amusing,—if the subject were not too grave a one for sportive diversion,—to witness the self-sufficiency with which some "reformers" who imagine that they have a "mission" to fulfill, approach the greatest problems of social economy and moral reform, with an idea that they are presenting, in their hackneyed declamations, "remedies" which will infallibly eradicate the greatest of evils. There are many who labor under a delusion that they are chosen instruments to effect a complete reformation of the evils of society. Some of this class, after uttering their cheap, trite phrases for a time, learn more wisdom and cease to proclaim their hackneyed observations as "remedies which nobody ever thought of before;" but others continue during their whole lives to think that they are destined by such means to awaken and reform the world.

In General.

The New York Nation has a correct conception of the party of "dead issues." It says: "The Democratic party has had only imbeciles for chiefs since the Southern wing went into delirium; but madness seems more curable than idiocy, and that still prevails in their councils in our Northern section."

The Chicago Times says that Mr. Pendleton proposes a reversal of the financial policy of Secretary Boutwell. As the Secretary is paying off the national debt at the rate of about one hundred millions a year, a contemporary infers that Pendleton would turn the tide in the opposite direction, and increase the debt at about the same rate.

The Republic of Cuba has at last found a nation to recognize it. The Republic of Peru has proclaimed that "the independence of the island of Cuba from Spanish dominion, and also the Republican form of government therein established, are hereby by this nation recognized." The action of Peru will no doubt soon be followed by all the South American Republics.

The Illinois State Journal of the 15th September contains an account of the proceedings at the commencement of work on the Lincoln monument at Springfield. The foundation is to be finished the present year, and the whole structure is to be completed during the year 1870. The available funds of the Association now amount to 158,663. The Monument, when completed, will be unequaled in the country.

"The peril of the hour" in Ohio, according to the Toledo Blade, is the multiplication of "Peoples' tickets" in the various counties and cities; a fusion of Democrats and Republicans going on with reference to local offices. The danger is, that such combination tend to demoralize the Republicans, and place in jeopardy the regular nominations for the Legislature. "All such fusions," the Blade declares, "are for the help of the Democracy, the gratification of personal spite, and the promotion to offices of a few men who consider themselves slighted by the Republicans."

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

The Cuban Junta have voted the widow of Secretary Rawlins $20,000 in bonds of the Cuban Republic, as an evidence of their respect for her husband. The gift is of problematic value, however.

There has been some surprise expressed at the absence of Mrs. Rawlins from Washington at the time of her husband's death. She was sick at Danbury, Connecticut. The last of General Rawlins' children was but a week old when he died.

Of the seven Republican Senators who voted against the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, it is somewhat strange that but two remain unscathed by the hand of death, or by political or other misfortune. These two are, Judge Trumbull, of Illinois, and Senator Ross, of Kansas. Henderson, of Missouri, and Van Winkle, of West Virginia, have been superseded. Fowler, of Tennessee, will have to give place to Andy himself, or some other man. Fessenden, of Maine, has just died. Grimes, of Iowa, is an invalid and has resigned. As the great poet says, "So runs the world away."

It order to remove the dissatisfaction expressed against the present postage stamps, the Postmaster General proposes to change them, and with this view he had directed the bank company, which furnishes them to prepare for new issues. The heads of Washington, Jackson, Franklin, Lincoln and Jefferson are to be restored, in place of the present designs, to be represented as profile busts, each to represent the various denominations. The stamps are to be larger than those now in use and oblong. Instead of 150 being printed on a sheet there will be only 100. The former color—red—will also be restored. A month or two will elapse before the new stamps will be ready.

The opposition of a portion of the Democratic press of Tennessee to the election of Andrew Johnson to the United States Senate, is a fit sequel to the double treachery he has practiced. If this opposition should result, as it ought, in his defeat, he will then have been, to some extent, appropriately punished for his duplicity. The rebels will never forgive him for his harsh treatment of them while he was Governor of Tennessee, and the Union men will never forgive him for betraying them in the hour of peril. If he can forgive himself, it will be an exhibition of a more extraordinary stretch of the pardoning power than characterized his use of it, while President, to restore rebels to their former control in politics.

A Washington dispatch of Sept. 15th says: The expenses of the Patent Office, under the new management, are rapidly decreasing. On July 1st there was an unexpected balance of last year's appropriation of $68,000. This sum will suffice for all current expenses until the end of September. There will then be on hand $30,000, of appropriation for this year. Aside from this saving, the entire work of the office has been performed with fifteen clerks less than the law allows. To-day for the first time the Commissioner's desk was entirely cleared of all back business which had accumulated during the previous administration. Besides savings mentioned, the old appropriation was so managed as to pay for the year's expense of photographing and manifolding drawings, which amounts to $25,000.

THE WEST.

Governor Bross has returned to Chicago on account of the illness of his wife.

The San Francisco Evening Bulletin has purchased in New York an eight cylinder Hoe press, with a capacity for printing 14,000 copies an hour.

Brigham's empire is on the increase. Four hundred and twenty-nine saints recently arrived in New York from England and Wales, on their way to Utah.

It is estimated that the immigration to Minnesota will reach from 75,000 to 100,000 for 1869. The present population of the State is 475,000.

The real and personal property tax of White Pine amounts to $3,134,000, divided as follows: Real estate, $1,066,600; improvements, $815,800; personal property, $1,251,600.

An Oakland (Cal.) paper proudly refers to the fact that trains arrive daily at that place "from New York and way stations." We suppose that the way stations referred to are Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and Sacramento.

A hunter in Nevada county, California, thinks somebody must have furnished the quail in that section with copies of the game law. There were plenty of birds before the law expired, but they've left for parts unknown within a few days.

John Catalow recently rode from Silver City to Boise in four hours and thirty minutes, starting at six and arriving at ten thirty A. M., making but one change of horses. The distance is sixty miles, and considering the character of the road is an unparalelled feat of riding.

An eagle recently tried to gobble up the brazen cock on the corporation flag staff at Victoria, and was quite surprised to find that it was composed of indigestible material. The Colonist asks: Has this incident any political significance? Was the eagle an avant courier of the fulfillment of Mr. Seward's prediction which points toward the Annexation of British Columbia?

A San Francisco paper of the 25th says: The mortuary statistics of the Health Officer, for the week ending Saturday, record a death as having taken place in the City and County Hospital from leprosy. This is the first death from leprosy that has ever taken place in California, nor has a similar disease ever been treated in this city. The disease is the most loathsome, the most sickening, and the most repulsive known to medical science, and is fortunately, very rare.

A Boise paper of the 22d has the following: We are informed that a Miss Myers was drowned in Snake river on Monday evening last. She was going from this place to Jordan Valley, and while crossing Snake river, at the ferry between this place and Silver City, she got out of the conveyance and was standing near one of the horses. The horses became frightened and one of them kicked, striking her on the head, with such force as to knock her off the boat and she was drowned.

From the Boise Statesman: Col. Floyd Jones, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, who has just returned from a trip to the Fort Hall Reservation, reports his visit as very satisfactory. He found the Indians contented with their new home and also manifesting a decided disposition to become tillers of the soil. Captain Jim Collins, Chief of the Boise Shoshones, and well known to many of the residents here, asked that he might be taken to Washington on a visit to the big tyee, the President.

From the San Francisco Alta, Sept. 21: The ship Baltic, which arrived in this port about a month since, and to which frequent reference has been made, is again ready for sea, having completed the loading on Friday night last. The Baltic, which takes on this trip about 3,400 tons of wheat, the largest cargo ever taken from this port, was loaded in six working days, by Messrs. W. A. Holcomb & Co., for Messrs. Rodgers, Meyer & Co. Several thorough descriptions of this fine vessel have been written, but it was not well understood until she had received on board the cargo referred to what an immense freight she was capable of carrying.

One of the most noteworthy financial features of the present year is the comparatively small amount of gold we are exporting. In the first eight months of 1868 there was exported, from the port of New York alone, $65,022,527 in gold; in the same period this year only $25,215,640. At the same time we have imported a third more gold and silver than in 1868. These facts show that we are accumulating a specie reserve. As a proof of the superior efficiency of the revenue officers this year, the following figures are interesting: The internal revenue receipts for July, 1868, were $16,189,612; for August, $13,900,385. The receipts for July, 1869, were $21,576,634, and for August, $13,015,395, a gain of $5,703,996. The receipts for the fiscal quarter ending September 30, 1868, were $38,735,852, and it is estimated that for the corresponding quarter this year they will reach $48,000,000, an increase of more than 25 per cent.

Board of Statistics and Immigration.—This Association has opened an office on First street, third door north from Stark street—the old library rooms, and the Labor Exchange Department is now ready for operations.

Merchants, manufacturers, contractors, farmers and others in want of help are invited to send in their orders at once, stating kind of help wanted, rate of wages offered, length of time for which employment will be given, and other particulars. No charges for procuring help.

Information is solicited in regard to lands either for sale, to crop or rent, or open to entry or pre-emption, suitable for farming or grazing purposes, with particulars as to [illegible], climate, adaptability to different products, distance from routes of travel, facilities for transportation, etc., accompanied, when possible, with maps or diagrams.

The Labor Exchange operations of the Association will be conducted upon the general plan of the California Exchange. The subjoined report of the Secretary, to the Board, will, therefore convey quite accurately information as to the intended operations of the Oregon Association.

Report of the Secretary of the Board of Statistics, Immigration and Labor Exchange for Oregon, submitted at a meeting of the Trustees, held Sept. 24, 1869:

PORTLAND, Sept. 23, 1869.

To the President and Trustees of the Board of Statistics, Immigration and Labor Exchange for Oregon: Gentlemen—In compliance with instructions from your Executive Committee, I visited San Francisco for the purpose of examining into the practical workings of the Labor Exchange in operation there. Provided with letters from the President and other members of the Board, I had no difficulty in obtaining all the information I desired. I received at the hands of the gentlemen connected with the institution in San Francisco every assistance and courtesy that could be asked.

The California Labor Exchange is mainly devoted to receiving and filling orders for help of all kinds, from all parts of the State; and furnishing employment to those in need of it. At present, employment is furnished to from twenty to thirty and sometimes fifty persons in a day, and some months ago, when times were better than they are now, it was not uncommon for seventy five or a hundred [illegible] to obtain employment at the Exchange in one day.

The workings of the institution are very simple. All orders for help are entered upon the "Order Book" at the time they are received, and notice given of the purport of these orders. Persons selected to fill the orders are furnished each with a ticket containing the name and address of the employer, together with name, age and [illegible] of the person employed, signed by the Secretary and bearing the seal of the Association. He is [illegible] of the shortest and best route of travel to the place of business of his employer and the rate of wages, and with his "ticket" proceeds at once to his destination, the "ticket" affording evidence to the employer that he was engaged by the Exchange.

At first it was common to recommend to employers to pay the traveling expenses of their help, particularly when the place of business was in a distant locality, but that plan was found to work badly and was [illegible].

In addition to the Order-Book above referred to, a book is kept in which the name of the applicant for employment is entered at the time an engagement is made; together with age, calling and other particulars of interest. [illegible] say once a month, or as often as may be [illegible] the names of employers and applicants are [illegible] to separate Registers kept for the purpose. In these Registers are recorded all the details of each engagement, and all attainable facts about each person sent to fill the order—thus affording, by these records, a certain amount of protection to employers and [illegible] against imposition that would sometimes [illegible] were business conducted less systematically. The other books kept by the Association are: a subscription book containing certificates of membership, a minute book, receipt book and cash book; each of [illegible] in itself the uses for which it is applied. A scrap-book is kept in which are pasted clippings [illegible] and pamphlets of a statistical nature, [illegible] by like associations in other States and [illegible] of that kind. Beyond this the Association has taken no steps to provide for the compilation of [illegible] of the State, all information of that kind [illegible] their pamphlets and circulars being obtained [illegible] the Surveyor General's reports issued from [illegible] General's office at Sacramento at the opening [illegible] of the Legislature.

[illegible] been adopted for obtaining and p[illegible]ving [illegible] of the public lands, or for obtaining information of the location of private lands for sale or rent [illegible] immigrants in San Francisco in search of lands, [illegible] to the Real Estate Agencies of the city to obtain [illegible] information he may want. It was at first intended that the Labor Exchange should take hold systematically of this matter of statistics and lands; but [illegible] afterward abandoned.

[illegible] have been made by the Labor Exchange [illegible] immigration into California by the distribution [illegible] and circulars, through the Eastern States [illegible] containing statistics of the productions of [illegible] the rate of wages, cost of living and other information likely to interest immigrants. Measures were [illegible] to have translations of these pamphlets [illegible] the American consuls at German and French [illegible].

The Exchange is supported in the main by the business men of San Francisco, each member paying annually [illegible] as a condition of membership, and dues of [illegible] per month. The expense of conducting [illegible] amounts to about five hundred dollars per [illegible] of printing expenses.

[illegible] to the Labor Exchange, I visited another [illegible] in operation at San Francisco called the [illegible] Association—a private society, composed [illegible] what I could learn, of but a few persons. [illegible] is managed by an agent. As the society [illegible] one I could not, of course, make many [illegible] its organization or mode of doing business, [illegible] the agent kindly furnished me with some [illegible] in regard to his system of obtaining [illegible] of the public and private lands in. [illegible] maps and plats embrace every township [illegible] according to the public surveys, with all the [illegible] accurately defined, showing what [illegible] sold or entered, as well as all lands held [illegible] different acts of Congress, for school [illegible]. It is an intricate and complicated [illegible] which they seem to have matured with [illegible]. The agent very courteously fur[illegible] many of his forms and [illegible] which will be found useful to this Association [illegible] a system something like it, as contem[illegible] Constitution and By-laws.

[illegible] I procured the necessary books [illegible] the business of the Association, and a [illegible] for the Labor Department, sufficient, [illegible] judge, for one year, but did not procure [illegible].

[illegible] are: Two Registers for applicants [illegible] one Register of Employers; one Land [illegible] Register; one Register of State [illegible] one Register of Applicants for Lands; [illegible] Book; one Minute Book; one Certificate [illegible].

[illegible] circulars to employers and those [illegible] employment, for general distribution in hotels, [illegible] and other public places, applicants' tickets, [illegible] also some letter heads, and [illegible] copies of "An Address to the Public" for distribution throughout Oregon, as a [illegible] co-operation in the movement and of [illegible] in collecting the statistical information to be obtained. The entire bill for books [illegible] amounts to $217 00. Express charges, $4.

JOHN M. DRAKE, Secretary.

[illegible] Plank Road.—East Portland, Sept. [illegible] to notice, a meeting was held at the [illegible] School House, to devise and make [illegible] for constructing a plank road from the [illegible] bridge to the Slab road at No. 2 School [illegible] Mr. Hampton Kelly was elected [illegible] and Mr. Dav. Roffety, Secretary. A motion [illegible] a committee of three be appointed by the [illegible] as follows: Dr. A. M. Loryea, Dr. J. C. [illegible] and O. P. Mrs. St. Clair, husband, and Miss Brearly started yesterday for Puget Sound. They propose to return here [illegible] of next month, and thence to return to [illegible] overland.

The annual target practice of the Washington Guard will take place to-morrow, if the weather be favorable.

The roof of the Odd Fellows Hall is nearly completed. A [illegible] number of hands are engaged in putting [illegible].

The flag at the N. P. T. Co's office was at half mast [illegible] in respect to the memory of Capt. Porter, of the new ship Continental, who died at sea and was buried at St. Lucas a few days since.

[illegible] Hann, President of the late Willamette Steam Navigation Company, of this city, is about to build a [illegible] for service on the Umpqua. The citizens of Gardiner have contributed a considerable sum to assist him.

A [illegible] in the city jail, confined Sunday night for [illegible] drunk, broke up the furniture of his cell and pitched [illegible] out of the window. He was, however, [illegible] yesterday.

[illegible].—The climatic difference between the [illegible] and Pacific slopes has always been acknowledged in our favor. Our seasons go their rounds with just about the same number of hot days, cold days, dry months and wet months, never intensely hot and never severely cold. Our years are about half spring and half autumn—the balance of the year, more or less, being a little too wet for autumn and a little too cold for spring. The "States," on the contrary, have raging hot summers and roaring cold, stormy winters, both being plentifully sprinkled with thunder storms, hurricanes and such like mortal scourges. We always have water enough, if not for navigation, for the Good Templars, the milk peddlers, bath houses and toddy mixers. In the East, this year, water has been so scarce in some of the great cities as to create much distress. Consumers of milk, first, complained of the peddlers and then quit buying of them, because the milk, after standing awhile, had a "nasty yellow scum" on its surface—a thing that had never been known to happen before. It was attributed, of course, to the drought; so the people were first deprived of water and then forced to forego milk. Under such circumstances, how could the the Good Templars' membership be kept up? We noticed, a few days since, that one of the papers was soundly abusing a poor fellow who had been extravagant enough to drown himself in water! It thought he might have used a more plentiful fluid. But, thank Heaven, in this country, a man may drown himself, if he wants to, in water, without fear of being upbraided at his funeral.

The Ball.—The ball given last night at Philharmonic Hall by the Ladies Hebrew Benevolent Association of this city, was one of the most decidedly pleasant affairs of the season. The music was furnished by the Ft. Vancouver Infantry band. The company was large and everything went as merry as "marriage bells" till the "wee sma' hours" of this morning. No class of our citizens have established a reputation for conducting this sort of an entertainment better than the ladies and gentlemen concerned in the management of this ball, and the affair of last evening afforded only another evidence that our Hebrew friends understand perfectly, the great art of "how to be happy" on an occasion of this kind.

Must be the Same Man.—The author of the following specimen of "fine writing" must be the same chap who has on one or two occasions spread himself the telegraph wires along, from Carlin, Nevada. Don't think anybody else could have done it. The specimen is from the Salt Lake Telegraph, and is laudatory of Neil Warner's voice. It speaks of it as "a full, round, flexible voice, of great compass, that can reach the deep tones of powerful and concentrated passion, or the winning softness that falls on the ear like Summer evening zephyrs playing among roses." If that last can be beat, we'd like to get acquainted with the man that could do it.

The Great Little Folks Coming this Way.—The Roseburg Ensign advertises that General Tom Thumb and wife and Commodore Nutt and wife are to show the[illegible] at Roseburg on the 8th of October and at Oakland, on the 9th; from which it may be concluded that the greatest little folks in the world are coming this way. Let 'em come; and if they want to buy a farm alongside the "Skeleton man" and "Bearded woman," why, let 'em.

The Hattie C. Besse.—This vessel is being thoroughly refitted for the expected voyage to China. Her crew are engaged in calking the deck, laying down a temporary deck floor in her hold, for Chinese passengers, and otherwise placing the vessel in the best possible condition. About 200 Chinamen will go passengers for Hong Kong. The deck floors mentioned, are situated forward and aft, the centre being destined for the stowage of freight.

[illegible] of Odd Fellows.—The wife of Dr. J. A. Chapman, died yesterday morning, after a very brief illness. The funeral services will take place this afternoon. The members of Samaritan Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. will meet at 2 o'clock for the purpose of attending the funeral, and members of all other lodges and visitors are invited to join them in paying the last sad respects to their deceased sister.

Theatrical.—The Carter Troupe of dramatists, accompanied by Mr. Lappens, will go to Salem to-day and will open at Griswold's Theatre, Wednesday evening. Good luck attend them. The Salemites will have an opportunity to enjoy a season of first-class theatricals, such as they will not often have, and if they do not turn out liberally—they ought to.

A Clock Tower.—The frame work being erected on the top of the Odd Fellows' Hall, and which has excited the curiosity of so many persons, is to be a clock tower. Our city will soon glory in a "town clock" which, it is expected, will regulate the sun, moon, stars, comets, dinner hours and such other luxuries of life.

Removal.—John O'Connor & Co. removed their stock of provisions, groceries, fruit, etc., from their old place to the brick building, corner of Stark and First street. This change of location is made to secure more room, a better room and greater safety from fire.

Mechanics' Institute, San Francisco.—On the 20th inst., among the articles mentioned as on exhibition, were samples of Cassimeres from Oregon City Woolen Mills, by Brown Bros. & Co., and a root from a gravel bed near Mount Hood, Oregon.

An Attempt at Suicide.—The Commercial states that one of the prisoners in the county jail made an attempt to "shuffle off this mortal coil," two or three days since, by taking laudanum. A doctor and stomach pump frustrated the design.

Favors.—We are indebted to Mr. Neustadt, Purser of the Geo. S. Wright for files of late Victoria papers.

The New York Sun tells us that the present Mrs. Commodore Vanderbilt's maiden name was Crawford. She was married to a Mr. Elliott. She did not live with him long. Mr. Elliott obtained a divorce from her on the ground of desertion. She retaind her maiden name, and was married to the Commodore the other day. Since the Sun has said this much, it may not be amiss to say a word more. Mrs. Vanderbilt, nee Miss Frank Crawford, is a native of Mobile, and is now about twenty-six years of age. Her father, the Hon. Robert L. Crawford, was a prominent lawyer and was judge of the United States District Court at the time of his death, which occurred about twenty years ago. His daughter, a tall, beautiful girl, with black hair and eyes, was married to John F. Elliott, then a real estate agent and banker in Mobile. A separation took place a few months after their marriage, caused, it was said, by the interference of her relatives. The courts decreed him a divorce, and a special act of the Alabama Legislature, passed since the war, gave her back her maiden name, with the right to marry again.

To Hebrew Parents—Religious Instruction.—Dr. Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have ever most extraordinarily attuned his mind to that of simple childhood, and exercised a "magnetic" power over the juveniles brought within his influence which unregenerate minds can never acquire. The instructions will, till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall, next building to the Portland Library. Till then, they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service.

By order of the President.
al7 P. LEVIN, Secretary.

Samaritan Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F.—Members are requested to meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Dr. J. A. Chapman, for the purpose of attending the funeral of his deceased wife.

Why I Wept.

I wept—my baby was a boy!
 I mourned o'er croup and daily colic,
O'er nurses' face and doctors' calls,
 O'er nights of screeching diabolic.
I thought upon the crimsoned face,
 The lungs to double force inflated,
And wondered why, of all my race,
 To have a boy I should be fated.

I wept—my baby was a boy!
 I thought of all my pleasures ended,
Of broken kits and shattered toy,
 Of coat and trowsers to be mended.
I wept for pots of huckle-jell,
 For household idols rudely pounded,
For chickens strangled in the shell,
 And wretched kittens hung and drowned.

I wept—my baby was a boy!
 And sighed o'er all of manhood's bother;
How every girl he chanced to know
 Would want to kiss him for his mother.
"How [illegible] in love and politics,
 When women made the law and voted,
He'd get into some precious fix,
 And break the heart that on him doted.

And so I turned unto the wall,
 And tried in vain my grief to smother;
To think I had a boy at all,
 And vowed I'd never have another.

Mark Twain and the Indians.

Mark Twain has been among the "Indians" at Niagara with queer results. After giving an account of interviewing a squaw and a full-grown warrior, with dissatisfaction, he says:

I made one more attempt to fraternize with them, and only one. I came upon a camp of them gathered in the shade of a great tree, making wampum and moccasins, and addressed them in the language of friendship:

"Noble red men, braves, grand sachems, war-chiefs, squaws and high-you-muck-a-mucks, the pale-face from the land of the setting sun greets you! You, Beneficent Polecat—you, Devourer of Mountains—you, Roaring Thundergusts—you, Bully-boy-with-a-Glass-Eye—the pale-face from beyond the great waters greet you all! War and pestilence have thinned your ranks and destroyed your once proud nation. Poker, seven-up, and a vain modern expense for soap, unknown to your glorious ancestors, have depleted your purses. Appropriating in your simplicity the property of others, has gotten you into trouble. Misrepresenting facts, in your sinless innocence, has damaged your reputation with the soulless usurper. Trading for forty-rod whisky, to enable you to get drunk and happy and tomahawk your families, has played the everlasting mischief with the picturesque pomp of your dress, and here you are, in the broad light of the nineteenth century, gotten up like some ragtag and bob-tail of the purlieus of New York! For shame! Remember your ancestors! Recall their mighty deeds! Remember Uncas!—and Red Jacket!—and Hole-in-the-Day!—and Horace Greeley! Emulate their achievements! Unfurl yourselves under my banner, noble savages, illustrious guttersnipes!"

"Down wid him!"

"Scoop the blaggard!"

"Hang him!"

"Burn him!"

"Drownd him!"

It was the quickest operation that ever was. I simply saw a sudden flash in the air of clubs, brickbats, fists, bead baskets and moccasins—a single flash, and they all appeared to hit me at once, and no two of them in the same place. In the next instant the entire tribe was upon me. They tore all the clothes off me, they broke my arms and legs, they gave me a thump that dented the top of my head till it would hold coffee like a saucer; and to crown their disgraceful proceedings and add insult to injury, they threw me over Horseshoe Falls, and I got wet.

About 90 or 100 feet from the top the remains of my vest was caught on a projecting rock, and I was almost drowned before I could get loose. I finally fell and brought up in a world of white foam at the foot of the fall, whose celled and bubbly masses towered up several inches above my head. Of course I got into the eddy. I sailed round and round in it forty-four times—chasing a chip and gaining on it—each round trip a half mile—reaching for the same bush forty-four times, and just exactly missing it by a hair's breadth every time. At last a man walked down and sat down close to that bush, and put a pipe in his mouth, and lit a match, and followed me with one eye and kept the other on the match while he sheltered it with his hands from the wind. Presently a puff of wind blew it out. The next time I swept around he said:

"Got a match?"

"Yes; in my other vest. Help me out, please."

"Not for Joe."

When I came round again I said:

"Excuse the seemingly impertinent curiosity of a drowning man, but will you explain this singular conduct of yours?"

"With pleasure. I am the Coroner. Don't hurry on my account. I can wait for you. But I wish I had a match."

I said: "Take my place and I'll go and get you one."

He declined. This lack of confidence on his part created a coolness between us, and from that time forward I avoided him. It was my idea, in case anything happened to me, to so time the occurrence as to throw my custom into the hands of the opposition Coroner over on the American side.

At last a policeman came along and arrested me for disturbing the peace by yelling at people on the shore for help. The Judge fined me, but I had the advantage of him. My money was with my pantaloons, and my pantaloons were with the Indians.

Thus I escaped. I am now lying in a very critical condition. At least, I am lying, anyway—critical or not critical.

I am hurt all over, but I cannot tell the full extent yet, because the doctor is not done taking the inventory. He will make out my manifest this evening. However, thus far, he thinks only six of my wounds are fatal. I don't mind the others. Upon regaining my right mind, I said: "It is an awful savage tribe of Indians that do the bead work and moccasins for Niagara Falls, doctor. Where are they from?"

"Limerick, my son."

I shall not be able to finish my remarks about Niagara Falls until I get better.

The Press of New York.

Scarce has Bigelow warmed the seat of Raymond—scarce does the shadow of the great chief begin to recede from the precincts of the Times office and the affectionate imagination of its habitués—and we have an awful jolly row and lots of bad feeling among the craft journalistic. Marble picks at Bigelow, and John Russell Young is said to be digging Dana's grave. All is not lovely under the roof of the Herald. Young Bennett is nearly if not quite as bad as the Prince of Wales. The penny press is disturbed; the evening thunderers roll in dismantled swell. There are rumors of changes and innovations, and, as the political caldron boils and bubbles after an exceedingly explosive and enigmatical fashion, it may be safely assumed that the members of the press are no easier in mind than they should be. The story of the New York press has not been told yet. It is not settled that the Herald will survive "the old man," nor that J. Russell Young with the Commercial Advertiser will not successfully contest the schemes of Dana and the Sun. There used to be a popular delusion that the editors of newspapers were a most favored as well as a famous set; that they sat upon cushions which, like Hassan's foot-stool, had been touched by magic; that they ate, drank and were merry without money and without price; the familiar of authors and actors and artist of every description; dwelling in a haze of poetry and tobacco; whose gilded round of duty and pleasure was flavored with never-ending refreshments of Bourbon whisky and Cognac brandy, edged to make the matter racier, with an occasional dull or romantic adventure.

All this has gone out of the imagination of the present race of non-sentimentalizing men and women. An editor may no more clothe his neck with thunder and go forth with long locks, like a Caribbean freebooter, to prey upon society, to partake of its dinners and carry off its richest and prettiest girls; an editor, I say, may no more do these things than his neighbor, who has to take the world as he finds it. Editors are, as we see them, a very practical, business class of fellows, and, if they sit on cushions at all, be sure there are plenty of thorns. I advise no well-to-do cobbler who can drive an honest peg to try his hand at journalism, and if Polly the cobbler's daughter, can marry her father's apprentice, I advise her to do so by all means. And I take my cue from the squabbles of the New York dailies and the dangers, vexations and heart-sickness that, in one form or another, assail every one of the great men who conduct their drudging, but have little power to control their destiny. I could tell you some tales that would surprise you. I don't propose to do so—at least just now—and only throw out these general hints to that senseless rural idea which imagines the press of the metropolis to be a sort of second heaven where country politicians go when they die. The press of the West is to-day richer and more influential than the press of New York; and the Cincinnatti Commercial, Chicago Tribune and the Courier-Journal stand higher here than our own "palladiums of liberty."—New York Correspondent Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE AVONDALE HERO.—To Charles Vartue of the Grand Tunnel Colliery, it would seem the honor is due of having first ventured down the smoldering shaft to the rescue of his comrades in the Avondale mine. He is described as the very beau ideal of a hero, with a finely-cut, resolute face, athletic build, and a clear blue eye of unwavering steadiness. Perfectly conscious of the dangers that threatened him amid the mephetic vapors of that loathsome dungeon; but with the strong purpose, the iron resolution of a man who devotes himself in a cause where death is the imminent reward of his heroism, he led the way into the gloomy sepulchre, as one inspired from on high, even as Christian carried his burden up the steep hill, sublime, earnest, and trusting in God.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir; Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined with the details of your map [illegible]

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon have it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S. Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical Surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.

HIRAM SMITH'S
Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought to public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE or REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or any risk to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, [illegible] and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

THE APPETITE FOR TOBACCO DESTROYED!

ORTON'S PREPARATION

ESTABLISHED 1859.

One box of Orton's Preparation is warranted to destroy the appetite for Tobacco, in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be. If it fails in any case the money will be refunded. It is perfectly safe and harmless to all cases. It is almost impossible to break off the use of Tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted. With the help of the Preparation, there is [illegible] trouble. Hundreds have used it who are [illegible] bear witness to the fact, that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for Tobacco and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commenced its use. The Preparation acts directly upon the [illegible] glands and secretions affected by Tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of Tobacco from the system and thus allaying the unnatural cravings for Tobacco. No more hankering for Tobacco after using Orton's Preparation. [illegible]

The time taken to allay all desire for [illegible] use of the Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about Five days. But some have no desire for Tobacco whatever after using Two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country calls loudly, ABANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the many recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure those suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will entirely destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, and without any bad effect upon the health and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any stimulus.

From Samuel Calvert, Esq., Antelope [illegible]

[illegible], Calif. [illegible]

For about twenty years I had used Tobacco in its various forms, and for the past eight years had been an inveterate smoker. Becoming satisfied that the excessive use of this narcotic was seriously impairing my health, I determined if possible to abandon the habit. Hearing of Orton's Preparation for destroying the appetite for Tobacco, I sent to Portland, for a box of the medicine, which I received [illegible] on the 17th of November. A month has not yet passed, yet the medicine has effectually relieved me of all yearning or desire to use Tobacco in any form. The Preparation is not more difficult or [illegible] than to commence chewing gum. I [illegible] believe the Preparation will have the [illegible] effect in every instance where it is given a trial. Upon that belief and from an [illegible] desire to benefit those who wish to break away from the slavish use of Tobacco I offer this testimonial.

SAMUEL CALVERT.

☞ Beware of Counterfeits and all articles purporting to be like this, of the same name or otherwise. The great popularity of Orton's Preparation has induced unprincipled persons to attempt palming upon the public counterfeit and inferior articles. Therefore be sure to order directly from the Proprietor, or his duly authorized Agents.

The price of Orton's Preparation is $2 per box, or three boxes for $5, sent by mail to any part of the country, securely sealed from observation, with postage paid, on receipt of price.

How to send money by mail.—Enclose the amount in a letter, seal carefully, register the letter and take a receipt for it of your Postmaster. Money sent in this way and above directed at my risk. Address
